

From Hospital Beds to Healing "Edventures": How a Father's Invention is Transforming Pediatric Care Across America

Playtime Edventures launches clinical disposable interactive bedding for ERs & expands interactive reusable sheets to shelters, foster homes.

INDIAN TRAIL, NC, UNITED STATES, July 7, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- FAIRVIEW, NC — July 7,

We are bringing immediate comfort and play to children facing trauma, extending our reach from hospital beds directly into emergency rooms, shelters, and first responders.

Founder, Playtime Edventures”

Kevin Gatlin

2026 — Playtime Edventures, the recognized leader in pediatric interactive therapy bedding, today announced a major national expansion of its interactive therapeutic textile line and its distribution footprint. Originally engineered to help young patients cope with the stress and anxiety of extended hospital stays, the company’s innovative bedding is now providing comfort and distraction to children in over 100+ hospitals, while rapidly expanding into women’s shelters, foster homes, juvenile detention centers, pediatric summer camps, and first responder vehicles nationwide.

The core of Playtime Edventures’ success lies in its uniquely designed interactive reusable bed sheets, which feature over 65 interactive games, educational layout patterns, and therapeutic activities. These vibrant designs instantly and magically transform a cold, sterile medical bed into a comforting “edventure” where kids can play, learn, sleep, and most importantly, heal. By shifting a child’s focus from clinical anxiety to familiar, engaging games, the bedding serves as a non-pharmacological tool that eases tension for patients, parents, and healthcare providers alike.

Driven by the massive success of the reusable line, the pediatric medical community sought an agile alternative for high-turnover clinical environments. In response to direct requests from leading pediatric councils, Playtime Edventures has officially launched its highly anticipated clinical disposable product line this year. Engineered specifically for rapid-use environments like emergency rooms and pre-surgery holding areas, the company now offers a twin-size Playtime Disposable Sheet, a Playtime Interactive Disposable Pillowcase, and Disposable Interactive Exam Table Paper.

This medical-grade disposable line brings the exact same stress-reducing, game-rich layouts into short-stay clinical zones, ensuring that a child's very first interaction in an emergency or pre-op setting is defined by play rather than fear. Disposable exam paper and pillowcases enable clinics and emergency centers to maintain strict hygiene protocols while immediately reducing the physiological barriers associated with white-coat syndrome.

"What started as a father's personal mission to comfort a friend's son who was in the hospital has grown into a multi-setting therapeutic framework," said Kevin Gatlin, the Founder of Playtime Edventures. "Anxiety doesn't just happen in a long-term hospital bed. It happens when a child enters a shelter, when they are transitioning into a foster home, when they are in a juvenile detention setting, or when they are being treated in the back of an ambulance. By expanding our reach and launching our disposable line, we are ensuring that no matter where a child faces a stressful transition or crisis, they have an immediate gateway to play and comfort."
