"We are excited to collaborate with Reed Biotech to bring their ELISA kits to researchers in Canada, the United States, and Mexico," said Theresa Schaub, Division President and Chief Operating Officer of Cosmo Bio USA. "We believe the combination of their ELISA kit's affordability with important characteristics like shortened assay times, high sensitivity, and low sample volume requirements will enable scientific workflows."

"We are delighted to establish this strategic partnership with Cosmo Bio USA to introduce our high-performance

ELISA platforms to researchers throughout North America," said Yiming Lu, Chief Executive Officer of Reed Biotech. "Our High Sensitivity, Micro Fast, and Fast Step ELISA kits are engineered to deliver exceptional assay performance—combining industry-leading sensitivity, ultra-low sample volume requirements, and significantly accelerated assay times—while maintaining exceptional affordability. By partnering with Cosmo Bio USA, we are making these technically differentiated immunoassay solutions widely accessible to laboratories across the U.S., Canada, and Mexico, enabling more efficient, reliable, and high-quality life science research."
