

Geared Power BioTech CEO, Gary Kellstrom, Jr. Featured on 'Going Beyond the Deal' Podcast with J. Michael Fischer, Jr.

Sharing the BioGuard UVC™ Journey: The Solo Founder Betting Everything on a Breakthrough to Stop the Spread of Respiratory Disease

WAYNE, NJ, UNITED STATES, July 8, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Geared Power BioTech today announced that its founder and CEO, Gary Kellstrom, Jr., was a featured guest on “Going Beyond the Deal” podcast hosted by J. Michael Fischer, Jr. The episode, now available worldwide, explores Kellstrom’s remarkable entrepreneurial path — explaining why he stopped trying to filter the air and started attacking the source. They get into the pivot from an automotive transmission prototype to a pandemic era mask, and building a lean, high-impact medtech startup to advance BioGuard UVC™ — a breakthrough wearable device intended to stop the spread of respiratory disease in hospitals.

If you want to see what conviction looks like before the win is guaranteed, this is the founder story most people never hear in real time.”

In the candid conversation, Kellstrom discusses the challenges and triumphs of commercializing an innovative medical technology, the power of New Jersey’s innovation ecosystem, and how BioGuard UVC™ — a filter-less, source control mask with helical UV Chambers — could help prevent future pandemics by inactivating airborne pathogens in exhaled breath of infected individuals in real time.

“The conversation with Michael was genuine,” said Kellstrom. “We dove deep into topics that don’t usually get that kind of attention. I’m grateful for the opportunity to share the story behind the inception of BioGuard UVC™.”

"If you want to see what conviction looks like before the win is guaranteed, this is the founder story most people never hear in real time," said Fischer.
