

TinySuperheroes Launches July Adventure Mission with sponsors Mehtab Wasi, Chase Nelson, and Slick City Action Park GA

SAINT LOUIS , MO, UNITED STATES, July 8, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

TinySuperheroes is excited to announce the launch of its July Adventure Mission, a free social-emotional learning activity designed to help children build self-confidence, strengthen responsible decision-making skills, and celebrate the courage it takes to embrace new experiences.

Made possible through the generous sponsorship of Mehtab Wasi, Chase Nelson, and Slick City Action Park GA, the Adventure Mission invites children to create their very own Adventure Passport, a personalized keepsake that captures brave moments, creative discoveries, and exciting new experiences throughout the month.

we believe some of the most powerful growth happens when children step outside their comfort zones and discover just how capable they truly are”

Erika Sinner

Adventure is more than exploring new places. It’s about discovering what you’re capable of. Each time a child tries something new, asks a question, meets someone new, or takes on a challenge, they strengthen their confidence and learn that courage grows through action.

"At TinySuperheroes, we believe some of the most powerful growth happens

when children step outside their comfort zones and discover just how capable they truly are," said Erika Sinner, CEO and Chief Empathy Officer of TinySuperheroes.

"The Adventure Mission encourages kids to celebrate every brave step they take, no matter how big or small, and reminds them that adventure often begins with simply saying 'yes' to something new."

Slick City Action Park, GA is a family entertainment center featuring indoor waterless slides and attractions designed for guests of all ages to play, explore, and create unforgettable memories together.

"This July, we're proud to partner with TinySuperheroes to support children in hospitals who are fighting battles most of us can't even imagine," said Mehtab Wasi, Co-Owner of Slick City Action Park GA. "Together with Co-Owner Chase Nelson, we are honored to support children and families through this meaningful partnership."

As part of the mission, children will create an Adventure Passport by folding paper into a small booklet, decorating it with their superhero identity, and recording courageous, curious, and creative experiences throughout the month. Each new adventure can be documented with drawings, stickers, notes, or stories that help children reflect on what they learned and how they grew.

The July Adventure Mission supports the development of responsible decision-making and self-confidence by helping children recognize that growth often happens when they are willing to explore, learn, and try something unfamiliar. Through reflection and celebration, participants gain a deeper understanding of their own strengths and abilities.

The Adventure Mission is part of TinySuperheroes' free Monthly Missions program, which provides children and families with engaging social-emotional learning activities that can be completed at home, in hospitals, classrooms, or communities. Each mission is designed to help children develop important life skills while celebrating the courage, strength, and hope they demonstrate every day.

Families can participate in the July Adventure Mission by completing their Adventure Passport throughout the month and sharing their experiences with the TinySuperheroes community.
