Designed as a restorative escape from the heat and pace of the season, the Sunlit Serenity Massage combines a full-body massage with cooling cryotherapy techniques and uplifting summer botanicals. The experience features the Euphoric Indulgence fragrance range from British bath and body brand Lola’s Apothecary, layering notes of ripe lime and grapefruit with soft geranium and a warm, lightly spiced vanilla base.

During the treatment, personalized massage techniques help release everyday tension and encourage deep relaxation, while cooling cryotherapy globes are incorporated to soothe tired muscles and invigorate the senses. The contrast of therapeutic touch and cooling elements creates a refreshing ritual particularly suited for the warmer summer months.

The experience concludes with an application of Euphoric Indulgence Whipped Body Soufflé, a rich finishing treatment that deeply nourishes the skin and leaves it decadently soft and lightly scented with bright citrus and warm botanical notes.

“Summer is a time when the body naturally craves lighter, refreshing experiences, and the Sunlit Serenity Massage was designed to deliver exactly that,” said Brennan Rosonet, Spa Director at The Windsor Court Spa. “From the cooling cryotherapy globes to the bright citrus aromatics, every element of the treatment is intended to help guests feel restored, refreshed and completely at ease.”

The Sunlit Serenity Massage is available for 50, 80 or 110 minutes, starting at $230, and is offered for a limited time this summer.
