The compact injector kit gives home cooks an introduction to meat injecting, with stainless-steel needles, cleaning brushes, a storage case, and a free ebook.

FLORENCE, MA, UNITED STATES, July 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SpitJack has introduced the SQUIRT 50, a compact 50 ml meat injector designed for home cooks seeking a practical, affordable way to inject marinades, brines, broths, and other injection recipes directly into meat.

The new SpitJack SQUIRT 50 combines a compact 50 ml injector with the needles, cleaning tools, spare parts, instructions, and storage case needed to get started.

The SQUIRT 50 kit includes two stainless-steel open-tip needles, two cleaning brushes, spare O-rings, instructions, and a fitted storage case. It is designed for use with turkey, chicken, pork, brisket, roasts, and other cuts where seasoning and flavor need to be distributed below the surface.

The SQUIRT 50 gives home cooks a capable injector, the accessories needed to use and clean it, and a substantial book explaining the technique.”

Bruce Frankel, Founder of SpitJack

Each SQUIRT 50 purchaser can also receive a free digital copy of The Ultimate Guide to Meat Injecting by registering the product. The 150-page ebook covers injector selection, needle use, preparation of injection recipes, cleaning, food safety, troubleshooting, injection patterns, and practical applications for poultry, pork, beef, and barbecue.

The new model joins the SpitJack line of meat injectors, which also includes the SHOT XL, PULSE, and Magnum. The SQUIRT 50 was developed as an accessible entry-level
