

Itramei Democratizes Elite Sales Coaching, Opens Enterprise AI Simulation Engine to SMBs and Solo Professionals

Itramei opens its enterprise AI sales simulation engine to SMBs and solo founders to eliminate revenue-killing communication gaps on demand.

DUBLIN, IRELAND, July 13, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Itramei, the AI Simulation Engine originally built for enterprise Go-To-Market teams, today announced the launch of its new self-serve platform. For the first time, SMBs, solo founders, and individual sales professionals can access elite, on-demand sales communication coaching directly, bypassing the need for enterprise-level budgets or internal approvals.

Historically, high-level conversational intelligence and active simulation have been gated behind large corporate contracts. Individual Account Executives, managers, and founders were forced to rely on theoretical classroom training or, worse, risky practice on real, high-value leads.

"We built the solution we wish we had during our own sales careers," says Neda Jawad, CEO of Itramei. "Having access to the right tools matters more than ever, but tools cannot replace actual skills. Skills are acquired by doing. Our new release skips the wait and distills complex theory into practical, accessible simulations."

The self-serve release completely simplifies the technical setup, allowing anyone to start running highly personalized, high-stakes business simulations in minutes.

Key benefits of the self-serve platform include:

The Sales Training Gap: While traditional roleplay and generic AI only scratch the surface, Itramei's AI simulation engine uncovers critical communication habits and blind spots at scale.

- Risk-Free Execution: Moving from passive theory to active practice without burning real pipeline.
- Contextual Performance Breakdown: Users receive highly detailed, objective reports isolating the specific communication habits holding them back.
- Method-Agnostic Coaching: The AI focuses on fundamental sales-specific communication, ensuring consistent improvement regardless of your specific sales background.

The core philosophy driving the release is simple: It does not only teach you sales; it makes you do sales. By replacing inorganic, anecdotal roleplays with consistent, AI-driven feedback, Itramei allows any professional to learn exactly what they need to do differently to get past their specific bottlenecks.

Itramei - The Communication Intelligence Platform for high-performance teams.

With this launch, the ability to practice, measure, and scale communication skills is no longer exclusive to the enterprise. It is now available to anyone, on demand.

About Itramei:

By turning subjective communication gaps into objective data, the platform allows commercial teams and individuals to isolate bottlenecks, accelerate ramp-up times, and scale predictable revenue through live AI roleplay.
