Yellowstone Forever's Winter Lodging & Learning programs offer a memorable blend of comfort and discovery. Presented in partnership with Yellowstone National Park Lodges, the packages combine lodging, expert-led field excursions and educational experiences. Participants explore the park's winter landscapes, observe wildlife such as wolves and bison, and learn more about Yellowstone's ecosystem while staying in the park's historic lodges. Additionally, select meals are included.

Designed for travelers seeking both comfort and enrichment, Yellowstone Forever Institute's Lodging & Learning programs combine expert-led education with overnight accommodations inside and near the park. Participants spend their days exploring Yellowstone's wildlife, geothermal features, and landscapes alongside Institute field educators, who know how to help guests slow down, notice more, and make sense of what they are seeing, then return each evening to welcoming lodge settings for reflective discussions, storytelling, and community.

"As seasons change, Yellowstone transforms into an entirely different world," said Amanda Hagerty, Chief Program Officer at Yellowstone Forever. "Our Lodging & Learning programs offer a chance to truly connect with the park's wildlife and heritage, all while enjoying the warmth of Yellowstone's historic lodges."

Since its founding in 1976, Yellowstone Forever Institute has welcomed tens of thousands of learners to experience Yellowstone's geothermal features, wildlife corridors, and iconic landscapes while offering transformational experiences that deepen understanding of Yellowstone's ecological and cultural significance. As the park's official nonprofit education partner, the Institute works closely with the National Park Service to offer programs that reflect what is happening in the park right now. From wildlife, geology, and cultural history, guests learn from field educators who are connected to the park's ongoing science and stewardship, offering a perspective that moves beyond sightseeing into understanding. It is an experience designed to leave visitors seeing Yellowstone differently than when they arrived.

These multi-day programs provide an ideal way to experience Yellowstone with ease, depth, and purpose and are perfect for visitors looking for an elevated national park journey.
