

Sharps Medical Waste Services Appoints Silvia Costa as Chief Human Resources Officer

Appointment reinforces the company's investment in people, culture, and long-term growth.

TX, UNITED STATES, July 14, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Sharps Medical Waste Services (MWS), a national leader in regulated medical waste management, today announced the appointment of Silvia Costa as Chief Human Resources Officer (CHRO). Costa joins the executive leadership team as Sharps MWS continues to expand its national footprint, invest in its workforce, and strengthen the culture that supports safe, compliant, and customer-focused operations.

I look forward to working alongside our teams to build an environment where employees can grow, lead, and continue making a meaningful impact for the healthcare organizations and communities we serve.”

Silvia Costa, CHRO of Sharps Medical Waste Services

As CHRO, Costa will lead the company's people strategy, overseeing talent acquisition, leadership development, employee engagement, organizational effectiveness, and workforce planning. Throughout her career, Costa has built high-performing organizations by developing leaders, strengthening compliance, and fostering cultures rooted in accountability, continuous learning, and employee engagement.

"Regulated medical waste is safety-critical work, and it takes skilled, committed people to do it well," said Daniel Durski, CFO of Sharps Medical Waste Services. "Silvia has the operational discipline to strengthen how we hire, develop, and protect our workforce as we grow—making Sharps both a strong place to work and a partner our customers can rely on."

"I'm excited to join Sharps at such an important point in its journey," said Costa. "I look forward to working alongside our teams to build an environment where employees can grow, lead, and continue making a meaningful impact for the healthcare organizations and communities we serve."
