Why Cost Reduction Alone is no Longer Enough in the Food & Beverage Industry

Food & Beverage Margins: Why Cost Reduction Alone is no Longer Enough. Food and beverage companies across geographies are facing sustained margin pressure.

PARIS, FRANCE, FRANCE, September 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Food and beverage companies across geographies are facing sustained margin pressure.

However, the issue is no longer only about cost increases, but about how difficult margins have become to manage in practice.

> Food & Beverage Margins: Why Cost Reduction Alone is no Longer Enough. Food and beverage companies across geographies are facing sustained margin pressure."
>
> EFESO

EFESO's latest analysis shows that margin pressure increasingly results from how decisions across portfolio, planning, network and operations interact, often creating structural leakage that is difficult to address through traditional cost actions.

Discover how leading Food & Beverage companies identify and eliminate structural margin leakage. Read the full article.

Through better portfolio, network and operational decisions that reduce margin leakage and improve profitability.

Sabrina Laborde
EFESO Management Consultants
+33 1 53 53 57 00
email us here
Visit us on social media:
LinkedIn
YouTube