As an exhibitor, RH Events & Catering hosted a booth where its team had conversations with attendees about corporate picnics, employee appreciation events, company celebrations, and large-scale event planning. These discussions focused on how organized, well-planned events can help companies recognize employees, strengthen internal relationships, and create memorable workplace experiences.

“SHRM gives us a valuable opportunity to connect directly with HR professionals and hear what companies are thinking about when it comes to employee appreciation,” said Mary-Evelyn, representative of RH Events & Catering. “We always enjoy being part of these conversations and sharing how corporate events can support a stronger workplace

This year, the company’s presence at SHRM26 was focused on exhibiting, meeting attendees, and discussing how corporate events can support HR-led employee engagement initiatives.

The company has also been involved with SHRM-Atlanta, further reflecting its connection to the HR community. Through its continued presence at SHRM events, RH Events & Catering remains focused on helping organizations plan employee-centered events that are organized, enjoyable, and meaningful.

For companies planning corporate picnics, employee appreciation events, team celebrations, or large-scale workplace gatherings, RH Events & Catering provides event planning and catering support designed to make the process easier for HR teams and company leaders.
