Founder Quote

"Federal agencies possess an extraordinary amount of institutional knowledge, yet too much of it remains fragmented across organizations, systems, and people. Collaborative Shared Technologies LLC® was established to help agencies transform that knowledge into a strategic asset. Our mission is to build sustainable, governance-driven solutions that improve decision-making, strengthen organizational resilience, and prepare agencies to successfully integrate emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence while maintaining mission focus and operational excellence."

— Asha A. Peterson, Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Future Vision

Collaborative Shared Technologies LLC® is developing a portfolio of proprietary methodologies and intellectual property designed to advance the future of enterprise knowledge management and organizational transformation.

These innovations include:

- KnowledgeRoots™
- KnowledgeRoots™ Enterprise Intelligence Architecture™
- KnowledgeRoots™ Enterprise Maturity Framework™

Together, these proprietary frameworks are designed to provide federal agencies with a structured approach for measuring organizational maturity, strengthening governance, improving knowledge flow, enabling responsible AI adoption, and accelerating enterprise modernization.

As the company grows, Collaborative Shared Technologies LLC® plans to expand strategic partnerships with federal agencies, large prime contractors, and industry leaders while continuing to invest in innovative methodologies that improve mission outcomes across government.
