Our goal is to give healthcare providers reliable support, better visibility, and a billing process they can trust.”

Anjli Vaishnav

healthcare revenue cycle management company, is expanding its medical billing and practice support services for healthcare providers across the United States. The company helps solo providers, small practices, clinics, and multi-specialty groups manage billing operations with accuracy, transparency, and consistent follow-up.

Healthcare practices continue to face growing administrative pressure from claim denials, prior authorization delays, payer rule changes, patient balance issues, and rising billing complexity. Greenhive Billing Solutions supports providers by managing key revenue cycle functions so clinical teams can spend more time focused on patient care.

The company provides medical billing services, medical coding, eligibility verification, prior authorization support, claims processing, denial management, accounts receivable follow-up, payment posting, credentialing, patient billing, and revenue reporting.

Greenhive Billing Solutions focuses on building practical billing workflows around each practice's specialty, payer mix, EHR system, and operational needs. Its team works with healthcare providers to identify billing bottlenecks, improve clean claim submission, reduce delays, and provide clearer visibility into revenue cycle performance.

The company's approach is centered on human-led support, secure processes, and transparent communication. Greenhive Billing Solutions works closely with practices to review claim status, follow up on unpaid balances, monitor denials, and provide reporting that helps providers understand where revenue is being delayed.

“We understand that medical billing is not just about submitting claims. It is about protecting the financial health of a practice while keeping the process clear for providers and patients,” said Yugal Vaishnav, Co-Founder of Greenhive Billing Solutions. “Our goal is to give healthcare providers reliable support, better visibility, and a billing process they can trust.”

Greenhive Billing Solutions also supports specialty-focused billing needs for providers in areas such as primary care, behavioral health, ABA therapy, gastroenterology, urology, endocrinology, hepatology, optometry, and other medical specialties. The company helps practices manage payer requirements, documentation needs, coding accuracy, and follow-up workflows that directly affect reimbursement.

As healthcare practices continue to look for ways to improve cash flow and reduce administrative workload, Greenhive Billing Solutions is positioning itself as a practical partner for revenue cycle support. The company offers a free practice audit to help providers review their current billing challenges and identify opportunities for improvement.
