With the Japanese yen remaining relatively weak, now is also a favorable time for overseas learners to begin studying Japanese with a Japan-based school. AOJ Language School's monthly tuition of ¥17,000 offers strong value for international students, and the Fall Semester 2026 promotion makes enrollment even more accessible. For learners who are considering future study, work, travel, or life in Japan, this is a valuable opportunity to start building Japanese language skills while taking advantage of the current exchange-rate environment.

AOJ Language School is a fully online Japanese language school operated by Attain Corporation, the creator of “Attain Online Japanese,” a Japanese e-learning course series with over 200,000 learners on the global online learning platform Udemy. Drawing on its extensive experience in developing Japanese language e-learning materials, Attain provides a high-quality learning environment where students can study Japanese from anywhere in the world.
