

Dive Into an Adventure That Inspires the Next Generation of Ocean Heroes

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, July 20, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Fly Who Flew Under the Sea by Lauren Sánchez Bezos, invites young readers on an unforgettable underwater journey filled with discovery, wonder, and an important message about protecting our blue planet.

Readers follow along as Flynn the Fly embarks on a new journey under the sea. Filled with breathtaking biodiversity and natural wonders, The Fly Who Flew Under the Sea teaches children how much there is to learn about our precious planet and teaching the power of self-acceptance along the way. Through engaging storytelling, children learn about the beauty of our oceans, the incredible creatures that call them home, and how even small actions can help protect marine ecosystems for generations to come.

The book has been selected for The United States of Readers, the flagship literacy program of the nonprofit Impact Reading. The program provides students in underserved Pre-K–8 schools with the opportunity to choose and own new books, helping them build personal home libraries and develop lasting confidence, motivation, and joy as readers.
