relocations.

"Growing from Fort Myers movers into Cape Coral and Naples is a natural next step for us," said Rosie with Two Chicks Moving. "Our team has worked hard to earn the trust of our neighbors, and we're excited to bring that same level of care to more families and businesses across the region as their local movers. Every customer, whether they're moving down the street or across the state, deserves the same level of attention and respect for their belongings."

With more than 330 five-star reviews and counting, Two Chicks Moving has built its reputation as one of the most reliable residential movers and commercial movers in Southwest Florida on transparent pricing, careful handling of customers' belongings, and a team-oriented approach to every move. Customers frequently point to clear, upfront quotes and communicative crews as reasons for their high ratings, with many reviews specifically highlighting punctuality and care taken with furniture and fragile items.

As demand for dependable local movers and long distance movers continues to grow, Two Chicks Moving is positioning itself as the go-to choice for anyone searching "movers" or "moving company near me" across Fort Myers, Cape Coral, and Naples. The company says it plans to continue investing in crew training and customer communication systems as it grows into these new markets, with the goal of maintaining the same standard of service that built its reputation in Fort Myers.

The expanded service area is effective immediately, with the company's crews now available to serve residential and commercial customers throughout Cape Coral and Naples in addition to its existing Fort Myers coverage area. Customers in these areas can now request quotes for both local moves within their city and long-distance moves to other parts of Florida or out of state.

For those planning an upcoming move, Two Chicks Moving recommends booking several weeks in advance where possible, particularly during Southwest Florida's busier moving months, and requesting a detailed, itemized quote before moving day to avoid unexpected costs. Other tips the company shares with customers include decluttering before crews arrive to reduce time and cost, labeling boxes by room to speed up unloading, and confirming in advance what is and is not included in a quoted hourly rate. The company says its team is available to answer questions about pricing, timing, and the moving process for both first-time movers and those relocating for the third or fourth time.

Two Chicks Moving is licensed and insured to operate throughout Florida, a requirement the company says it takes seriously given how often moving-related complaints stem from unlicensed or underinsured operators. The company encourages consumers across Fort Myers, Cape Coral, and Naples to verify licensing and insurance before hiring any moving company, regardless of who they ultimately choose, as a basic step toward protecting their belongings and their money. Customers can request a free, no-obligation quote directly at twochicksmoving.com.

Beyond its core moving services, Two Chicks Moving says it remains committed to being an active part of the Southwest Florida community it serves, with plans to continue participating in local events and supporting community organizations as its footprint expands into Cape Coral and Naples. Company leadership says that community involvement, alongside consistent, high-quality service, has been central to how the business built its reputation in Fort Myers and is a model it intends to carry into every new market it enters.
