About the Author

Deborah Blakey is an inspirational author, speaker, transformational coach, and woman of faith whose life and testimony reflect God's power to restore, redeem, and renew. Passionate about helping women persevere through life's greatest challenges, she equips others to embrace healing, discover purpose, and walk confidently in the identity God has called them to.

Deborah is the founder of RePHURpose Her, an eight-week transformational coaching program designed to guide women through Perseverance, Healing, Unwavering Determination, and Rebirth. Through her coaching, she helps women reclaim their voices, rebuild their identity, and step boldly into their authentic selves with clarity, confidence, and purpose.

She is the author of Beautifully Broken and the companion outcome journal The Lioness Within, where she invites women to embrace their story, honor their healing, and recognize the strength that has always lived within them. Her newest book, Through the Fire, continues that journey, revealing what it truly means to be transformed by adversity rather than defined by it.

Grounded in faith, shaped by experience, and driven by purpose, Deborah's voice is both nurturing and empowering. Whether she is speaking, coaching, or writing, her mission remains the same: to remind every person that healing is possible, purpose can emerge from pain, and God never wastes a single chapter of our story.

"You are not what you went through. You are who you chose to become because of it."
