Back-to-school season can be exciting for students and parents, but it can also bring a long list of costs. From notebooks, folders, pencils, and binders to backpacks, classroom materials, and other everyday essentials, school shopping adds up quickly. Terry Bryant Accident & Injury Law created this giveaway as a practical way to help relieve some of that financial stress while giving back to the communities the firm serves.

“At Terry Bryant Accident & Injury Law, we understand how expensive back-to-school season can be for families,” said Terry Bryant, founder of Terry Bryant Accident & Injury Law. “This giveaway is one way for us to give back to our community and help parents and caregivers feel a little more supported as they get their children ready for the year ahead.”

The Back-to-School Gift Card Giveaway reflects the firm’s ongoing commitment to supporting people not only after serious accidents and injuries, but also through community-centered efforts that make a difference in everyday life. Terry Bryant Accident & Injury Law has built its reputation on helping injured Texans during difficult moments, and the firm believes that same spirit of service should extend beyond the courtroom.

For many households, even a little extra help during school shopping season can go a long way. A $200 gift card can help cover a range of needs, whether families are purchasing school supplies, classroom basics, or other items necessary for a strong start to the school year. By offering this giveaway, the firm hopes to help families feel more prepared and a little less burdened by seasonal expenses.

As students get ready to head back to class, Terry Bryant Accident & Injury Law is proud to play a small part in helping Texas families start the school year on stronger footing. The firm hopes this campaign not only provides practical support, but also highlights the importance of community involvement and giving back in meaningful ways.
