FREMONT, CA, UNITED STATES, August 20, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Intelligent Design has expanded its new kids' bedding range with the launch of the Sunshine Rainbow 3D Sherpa Detail Comforter Set with Rainbow Shaped Decorative Pillow, and the Unicorn Dream Plush Detail 3D Hand-stitched Quilt Set. Part of the brand's Dreamland Pop Collection, these designs bring tactile craftsmanship to children's spaces at accessible ecommerce pricing.

These new additions bring a balance of everyday warmth and imaginative wonder to children's bedrooms. With raised, dimensional detailing layered over printed fabric, the collection introduces themes made to be touched, not just looked at.

Warmth for a Small Room

The concept behind the design is straightforward. It is about bringing warmth into a small room without overwhelming it. This matters most for parents furnishing a first nursery or a girl's first big-kid room. It is bright and cheerful bedding for a toddler room, done with restraint rather than noise. The goal is comfort first and color that actually earns its place in a busy household.

Who Is Intelligent Design?

Intelligent Design makes bedding for teen and kids' rooms that want a little personality of their own, across a wide range of prints, textures, and construction techniques. For the Dreamland Pop Collection, the brand leans into dimensional appliqué and embroidery, layering raised texture over printed fabric to create a look a child can actually feel, not just see. That sensory care runs through every theme in the collection.

A Sunny Theme

The Sunshine Rainbow theme leans into warm yellow tones with just enough contrast to keep things interesting throughout. Think hand-finished detailing across a sunny palette, the kind that feels considered rather than loud or overdone. It is yellow kids' bedding built around mood first and color second. Nothing about it tries too hard. And that restraint is exactly why the design works so well.

Cheerful Without the Clutter

For toddlers and younger kids, a room needs warmth without visual noise, and that is where the Sunshine Rainbow comforter set fits in nicely. It is cheerful kids' bedding that brightens a shared space or a small bedroom without adding clutter to it. Parents get the happy, sunny feel they want, and the room still feels calm enough for actual sleep and downtime.

Made for Busy Family Life

Family life with young kids rarely slows down, and the Sunshine Rainbow comforter set is built with that in mind from the start. It holds up through daily routines rather than just looking good on day one and fade from there. There is nothing fussy about it, and no extra care required. It simply brings warmth to the room and gets on with the job quietly. It is bright kids' bedding that keeps up with the day, not just the photos.

A Touch of Magic

The Unicorn Dream Plush Detail 3D Hand-stitched Quilt Set takes an imagination-over-novelty approach to whimsical bedding. Designed with a soft pastel color palette, the set features detailed, hand-stitched plush elements that invite creativity without cluttering the room's visual aesthetic. Available exclusively as a quilt set in both Queen and Twin sizes, it gives parents a gentle, texturized option for styling a girl's room.

In the Words of the Design Team

A spokesperson at Intelligent Design explained the thinking behind the new releases: "We wanted designs that spark both everyday comfort and creative imagination without asking parents to fuss over them constantly. The Sunshine Rainbow 3D Sherpa Detail Comforter Set delivers honest warmth, while the Unicorn Dream Plush Detail 3D Hand-stitched Quilt Set brings a sense of quiet wonder. Both keep the construction low-effort and durable for busy households."

Both the Sunshine Rainbow comforter set and the Unicorn quilt set are available now, and parents can shop them directly from the Intelligent Design online store.
