Asia Pacific led the global market in 2025 with a 42.36% share, driven by rising disposable incomes and e-commerce growth. China's beauty product exports reached approximately USD 4.77 billion in 2024. Manufacturers like those listed above are adapting their processes to comply, ensuring that their packaging for cosmetics meets both performance and environmental requirements.

Closing Outlook

As the demand for premium beauty packaging solutions grows, these five manufacturers offer distinct capabilities ranging from volume production to custom design. Brands evaluating cosmetic packaging custom partnerships should consider each supplier's specific strengths in product categories such as cosmetic tube packaging, cosmetic packaging jar, foundation bottle cosmetic packaging, and powder case cosmetic packaging.
