Steve joins neos by Argon & Co from Accenture, where he supported and led organizations through complex supply chain and merchandising transformations, aligning business processes with industry best practices. Throughout his career, he has held key executive roles, including Vice President of Inventory & Assortment Planning at Bed Bath & Beyond, and Senior Director at The Vitamin Shoppe.

Steve's deep expertise in technology-driven supply chain transformations makes him an invaluable addition to our team.”

Dan Luttner, Managing Partner, neos by Argon & Co

Steve is a recognized industry expert in delivering end-to-end RELEX Forecasting & Replenishment implementations, both as a corporate business owner and a trusted consulting advisor. His extensive project portfolio includes leading large-scale system designs, process refinements, and inventory optimization initiatives for major big-box, home improvement, and health and wellness retailers.

combination of real-world retail operator experience and deep technical expertise in market-leading planning platforms like RELEX. As our clients navigate an increasingly complex omni-channel landscape, Steve's hands-on approach will be a massive asset in helping them build lasting value."

This strategic hire reflects Argon & Co's ongoing commitment to expanding its system integration and technology enablement capabilities globally through Neos. "I am incredibly excited to join the talented team at neos by Argon & Co," Steve stated. "I look forward to partnering with our clients to optimize their inventory processes, unlock the full value of their technology investments, and drive real, sustainable improvements across their omni-channel operations."

In addition to his professional track record, Steven holds a Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in Finance and Logistics, Transportation & Supply Chain Management from the University of Maryland, College Park.
