"In California, even hard-working and honest smog station employees can be accused at any time. Of course an 'accusation' is not an admission of guilt. Nonetheless, even one allegation can negatively impact a defendant. It's why our law firm focuses on defending the smog testing and auto repair community," explained William Ferreira, lead attorney at Automotive Defense Specialists. "We are here to fight for the truth and protect respectable smog shops from unsubstantiated Bureau of Auto Repair allegations."

Automotive Defense Specialists defends smog testing shops against unfair Bureau of Automotive Repair accusations. The Automotive Defense team has offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Smog testing professionals can contact the firm to discuss how to address BAR letters, including citations, criminal defense, and licensing issues.

The Bureau of Automotive Repair (<https://www.bar.ca.gov/>) is a state agency whose mission is to monitor and improve air quality in California. The agency oversees smog testing and car compliance with clean air standards. Responsibilities include ensuring auto repair dealers comply with the Automotive Repair Bill (https://calmatters.digitaldemocracy.org/bills/ca_201520160ab1174). Information on the website includes smog license searches, consumer assistance programs, and customer complaint forms.

The public can use the site to review the STAR report card for a specific smog-testing station.

RIPPLE EFFECTS FROM THE BUREAU OF AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR

Smog testing shops might not fully understand the consequences of a BAR Citation. Smog testing and repair citations may seem like a small issue resolved by paying a fine, but the long-term effects of that approach can do more harm than good. Each smog citation can be noted on a smog testing shop's record and accumulate. A STAR certification can be lost after the accumulation of several paid fines for BAR violations. A professional attorney focused on defending against all Bureau of Automotive Repair accusations can help mitigate the ripple effect of a smog business shutdown.
