

JR Wealth Management Launches New Digital Presence, Expands Educational Publishing Ahead of ELITEWEALTH.LAW™ Transition

An Insights library and two new frameworks, Wealth Orchestration and Post-Fiat Wealth Architecture, debut for high-net-worth families.

TORONTO, ON, CANADA, July 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- JR Wealth Management announced today the launch of its rebuilt website and an expanded library of educational publications on Wealth Orchestration for high-net-worth individuals and families, part of the firm's ongoing transition to the ELITEWEALTH.LAW brand.

The new site consolidates the firm's published guidance into a single Insights library covering asset protection, trust administration, international tax planning, family office structuring, and succession, alongside two new publications: a framework the firm calls Wealth Orchestration, describing the coordinated management of legal, tax, and jurisdictional planning under one accountable structure, and Post-Fiat Wealth Architecture™, an analysis of why single-jurisdiction wealth planning has become less durable amid currency, regulatory, and generational shifts.

"Most advisors manage pieces," said Jonathane Ricci, founder of JR Wealth Management and a dual-licensed attorney in New York and Michigan. "Our approach coordinates them, so a family's legal structure, tax position, and succession plan are designed as one system rather than assembled by accident."

Alongside the JR Wealth Management relaunch, Ricci's personal teaching site, jonathanericci.com, published a second entry in an ongoing curriculum on wealth-orchestration disciplines, joining a first teaching published earlier this year at jonathanemichaelricci.ca. The firm indicated the curriculum will continue publication through the fall, alongside the planned debut of UNJUST MATTERS™, an educational podcast examining self-determination and
