

Godfrey Atsing'a Receives World Civility Ambassador Appointment in Victoria Falls, Zimbabwe

Honored by HRH King Dr. Ruben West, the Kenyan journalist joins iChange Nations™ in advancing civility, leadership, and human dignity worldwide.

VICTORIA FALLS, ZIMBABWE, July 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- At a distinguished public ceremony in Victoria Falls, Zimbabwe, renowned Kenyan journalist and media executive Godfrey Atsing'a was officially appointed as a World Civility Ambassador by His Royal Highness King Dr. Ruben M. West (USA), Special Envoy for iChange Nations™, on behalf of the international humanitarian organization founded by Dr. Clyde Rivers.

His Royal Highness King Dr. Ruben M. West (USA), Special Envoy for iChange Nations™, Newly Appointed World Civility Ambassador, Mr. Godfrey Atsing'a (Kenya), and Humanitarian Diplomat Dr. Dominic Obadiah of Kenya,

The appointment recognizes Atsing'a's longstanding commitment to ethical journalism, humanitarian storytelling, and the promotion of unity, dignity, and positive social transformation across Africa. His documentation of civility-centered initiatives has helped amplify stories of hope and service across Kenya, Tanzania, Liberia, Zimbabwe, and other nations.

As Director of Zindua Productions International, Godfrey Atsing'a has earned respect as a journalist and media professional whose work reflects integrity, accuracy, and a commitment to highlighting solutions that strengthen communities. Trained in journalism in Nairobi, Kenya, he has consistently used the media to elevate voices that inspire service, collaboration, and human dignity.

Beyond his professional accomplishments, Atsing'a is a devoted husband to Naomi Mkala Atsing'a and a proud father of Gloria and Lisa Atsing'a. His dedication to family reflects the same values of responsibility, compassion, and servant leadership that have defined his professional career.

By accepting his appointment, Atsing'a joins a growing international network of leaders committed to advancing civility as a practical means to address many of today's social, cultural, and humanitarian challenges.

His responsibilities as a World Civility Ambassador will include promoting the internationally recognized World Civility Principles, which affirm the following:

- Every human life possesses immeasurable value.
 - Kindness and respect should characterize our interactions with every member of humanity.
 - People themselves are often the solutions to one another's greatest challenges.
 - Healthy communication strengthens communities, organizations, and nations.
 - Civility welcomes differing viewpoints while seeking understanding rather than division.
- Ideas are among humanity's greatest forms of wealth.
 - Prevention through dialogue and understanding is always more effective than conflict and intervention.
 - Solution-oriented conversations create lasting transformation.

Godfrey Atsing'a has shown that when journalism is guided by integrity and civility, it becomes a force that unites people, restores dignity, and inspires lasting change across generations.”
