

LEVIA Now Available Nationally with Launch of Hemp-Derived THC Beverages

ELIOT, ME, UNITED STATES, July 28, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LEVIA, Massachusetts' best-selling cannabis beverage brand and one of the pioneers of THC-infused drinks, today announced today the launch of its new hemp-derived beverage line made in Maine, allowing LEVIA products to be legally purchased online and shipped to consumers in select states for the first time.

The new beverages made with minor cannabinoids and hemp-derived THC are fully compliant with federal law, opening access to LEVIA beyond state-licensed cannabis dispensaries. This expansion marks a major milestone for the brand, which has built a loyal following in Massachusetts as the state's number one cannabis-infused seltzer.

"For years, consumers outside of Massachusetts have asked when they'd be able to try LEVIA," said Kristin Rogers, co-founder of LEVIA. "With this launch, adults in other states can now legally enjoy the same high-quality, thoughtfully formulated beverages that made LEVIA a category leader."

Founded in 2017, LEVIA was among the first companies to introduce fast-onset cannabis beverages, defining the cannabis beverage category as it grew into a multi-billion-dollar market. The brand is known for its zero-calorie, zero-sugar seltzers, consistent effects, and clean ingredient profile.

LEVIA's hemp-derived beverages are crafted to deliver the same refreshing taste, and the reliable experience consumers expect from the brand, while meeting all federal hemp requirements. The launch reflects LEVIA's ongoing commitment to responsible innovation, consumer education, and expanding access to regulated THC beverages.
