Jesus Herrera, Legal Liaison & Exit Process Manager at Miracle Surrogacy

SYDNEY, July 27, 2026. Miracle Surrogacy, a Growing Families Verified Provider, participated as a key presenter, sponsor and exhibitor at the Growing Families Surrogacy & Donor Conception National Conference 2026, held in Sydney on July 25 and 26.

The two-day conference brought together intended parents, experienced parents, fertility professionals, lawyers and international family-building providers to discuss surrogacy, donor conception and the medical, legal and practical considerations involved in creating a family.

Miracle Surrogacy representatives provided information about surrogacy in Mexico, including surrogate and egg donor programs, medical procedures, expected timelines, legal processes, program costs and the steps required for intended parents to return home safely with their

The conference also gave Miracle Surrogacy an opportunity to explain the significance of its status as a Growing Families Verified Provider. Growing Families grants this status to organizations that successfully complete its formal provider-review process and demonstrate alignment with recognized standards of professionalism, transparency and accepted industry practices.

“Growing Families’ verification is important because intended parents need more than advertising claims when selecting a surrogacy provider,” said Jesus Herrera, legal liaison & exit process manager at Miracle Surrogacy. “They need clear information and credible evidence that an agency’s practices, contracts, costs, support systems and professional standards have been independently reviewed.”

Growing Families Verification Recognizes Miracle Surrogacy’s Transparency and Complete Journey Support

Growing Families designated Miracle Surrogacy as a Verified Provider following a structured review of its services and practices in Mexico. The evaluation considers an agency’s experience, governance, staffing, costs, contracts, client protections, surrogate practices, communication standards and recent client feedback. Growing Families’ official profile describes Miracle as one of Mexico’s most recognized agencies and an established, well-regarded option for intended parents.

With more than 12 years of experience, Miracle is known for transparent contracts, fair and affordable pricing, attentive customer service and a commitment to the ethical treatment of surrogates. Its team provides coordinated support from the initial program evaluation and surrogate match through pregnancy, birth and the post-birth legal exit process, until families obtain the required documentation and can safely return home with their babies.

Strong Engagement from Australian Intended Parents

Prospective intended-parent families had the opportunity to approach Miracle Surrogacy's booth, participate in detailed conversations and register to receive additional information. These contacts will receive personalized follow-up based on their family structure, current stage and program interests.

Attendees showed particular interest in Miracle Surrogacy's matching process, surrogate and egg donor programs, expected timelines and legal exit support.

Miracle Surrogacy Contributes to Mexico Presentations and Panel Discussions

Miracle Surrogacy was the only participating Mexican agency to deliver a dedicated presentation during the first day of the conference. The presentation explained both the general surrogacy process in Mexico and how Miracle coordinates the different stages of the journey.

During the second day, Miracle Surrogacy contributed to a presentation addressing the Mexican legal framework and the practical steps involved in international surrogacy. Company representatives were invited to answer questions from the audience and provide additional information based on their experience coordinating journeys in Mexico.

Miracle Surrogacy also participated in a panel featuring four Mexican agencies. The panel addressed questions about legal procedures, medical protocols, surrogate matching, timelines, program expectations and the responsibilities of the different organizations involved.

The discussions gave intended parents an opportunity to compare programs and understand what they should evaluate when selecting a surrogacy agency in Mexico.

Local Australian Office Strengthens Client Support

Miracle Surrogacy's local presence in Australia was an important point of interest during the conference.

Through its Australian office, intended parents can arrange face-to-face consultations, receive information locally and maintain an additional point of contact while considering or completing a surrogacy journey in Mexico.

Several attendees expressed interest in scheduling private consultations following the conference. One couple also met with Miracle Surrogacy representatives at the Australian office to discuss their circumstances and receive answers to more detailed questions.

The local office forms part of Miracle Surrogacy's broader effort to make information and support more accessible to intended parents outside Mexico.

Collaboration and Industry Relationships

The conference provided opportunities for Miracle Surrogacy to strengthen relationships with lawyers, fertility professionals, support organizations and other family-building providers.

Members of the Miracle Surrogacy team met with Australian professionals to discuss recent administrative procedures, citizenship requirements and other developments affecting intended parents completing international surrogacy arrangements.

The team also assisted in resolving a pending communication matter for Australian fertility and surrogacy lawyer Stephen Page, helping ensure that the appropriate Miracle representative could continue addressing the request.

Miracle Surrogacy's approach at the event emphasized collaboration among professionals and agencies, with the goal of helping intended parents identify an appropriate program for their individual circumstances.

Growing Recognition in Australia

The Sydney event marked Miracle Surrogacy's third consecutive year participating in the conference. Team members observed a substantial increase in awareness of the company compared with previous years.

Attendees and professionals commented positively on the company's growth, presentation and local presence. Miracle Surrogacy currently has more than 75 English-speaking staff members supporting intended parents through the medical, legal, financial and coordination stages of their journeys.

The combination of Miracle Surrogacy's Growing Families Verified Provider status, local Australian office and continued participation in educational events provides intended parents with several ways to learn about the agency and evaluate its programs.

"Our presence in Australia is about more than attending a conference," Herrera said. "We want intended parents to have access to reliable information, personal guidance, local support and independent sources that can help them evaluate our practices. Growing Families' verification adds an important level of trust and accountability to that process."

Miracle Surrogacy plans to continue expanding its educational activities, local consultations and professional partnerships in Australia.
