

Aiken Medical Aesthetics Named 2026 Best of South Carolina Award Winner

AIKEN, SC, UNITED STATES, August 18, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Aiken Medical Aesthetics has been named a recipient of the 2026 Best of South Carolina Award, marking the practice's third year receiving this statewide recognition. The award honors businesses that make a meaningful community impact, and for Aiken Medical Aesthetics, that impact is measured one patient, consultation, and carefully tailored treatment plan at a time.

The practice has earned a reputation for helping patients achieve natural-looking results through neuromodulators such as Botox, dermal fillers, regenerative medicine, biostimulators, and advanced laser rejuvenation. Rather than offering one-size-fits-all solutions, the team develops customized plans designed to enhance each patient's features while supporting long-term skin health and confidence.

That individualized approach extends beyond aesthetics into health and wellness services designed to help patients feel their best from the inside out. Aiken Medical Aesthetics offers vitamins, medically supervised weight loss, peptide therapies, and intimate health services tailored to personal needs and wellness goals.

Among the practice's newest innovations is the HALO TRIBRID™ laser, an advanced Sciton platform that combines three laser wavelengths in one customizable treatment to address skin texture, discoloration, and collagen production. The practice also offers diVa by Sciton, a non-surgical laser treatment for intimate wellness. Supported by women's health nurse practitioners, diVa and other intimate health services are provided with compassionate, individualized care in a comfortable setting.

"We're honored to receive this recognition for the third year," said an Aiken Medical Aesthetics team member. "Our goal has always been to help patients feel confident by listening first, educating them about their options, and creating treatment plans that fit their individual needs. This award reflects the trust our patients place in us every day."

Receiving the 2026 Best of South Carolina Award marks another milestone as Aiken Medical Aesthetics continues expanding access to innovative aesthetic and wellness services. By pairing medical expertise with leading technology and a personalized approach, the practice remains focused on helping patients look refreshed, feel confident, and achieve results that feel authentically their own.
