

Functional Health Center of the Carolinas Earns 2026 Best of South Carolina Award

FORT MILL, SC, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Functional Health Center of the Carolinas has been named a 2026 Best of South Carolina Award winner, marking the practice's third consecutive year of recognition after also earning the honor in 2024 and 2025. The award highlights the center's continued impact in longevity medicine, functional medicine, and individualized patient care across the Carolinas.

Functional Health Center of the Carolinas serves patients who are often looking for answers beyond the standard checklist. With locations in Fort Mill and Mt. Pleasant, the practice takes a deeply personalized approach to care, helping patients address complex health concerns through advanced functional medicine, direct primary care, medically guided weight loss, precision nutrition, peptide therapy, and bio-identical hormone replacement therapy for men and women.

The center also works with patients navigating autoimmune disease, thyroid disorders, hormone imbalances, gastrointestinal conditions, pregnancy-related health challenges, and chronic concerns that may not have responded to more traditional paths. Rather than applying one-size-fits-all protocols, the team builds care around each patient's history, symptoms, lab work, goals, and long-term wellness needs.

"This recognition means a great deal because it reflects the trust our patients place in us," said a representative of Functional Health Center of the Carolinas. "Our mission has always been to help people feel heard, understood, and supported as they work toward better health. That's what 'Reclaim your Health, Carolinas!' is all about."

As Functional Health Center of the Carolinas continues growing its reach and services, the 2026 Best of South Carolina Award reinforces what patients already know: individualized care is not an extra here. It is the foundation.
