will take place on 19–20th October 2026 at the RAI, Amsterdam, bringing together more than 8,000 technology professionals, business leaders, and innovators for two days of enterprise technology discussions, technical insights, and cross-industry collaboration.

The event combines eight co-located technology conferences and exhibitions under one roof, providing attendees with a comprehensive view of the technologies, strategies, and infrastructure shaping the future of enterprise organisations.

The TechEx Europe agenda is designed to provide practical insights, real-world implementation lessons, and opportunities for meaningful peer-to-peer discussion across these critical areas.”

The conference programme spans eight technology domains:

- AI & Big Data
- Cyber Security & Cloud

- Digital Transformation
- Intelligent Automation and Robotics
- IoT Tech
- Physical AI
- Data Centres
- Edge Computing

Across multiple conference stages, attendees will explore topics including enterprise AI adoption, data strategy, cybersecurity resilience, cloud infrastructure, automation, digital transformation, and next-generation computing architectures.

The agenda has been developed to address the challenges facing enterprise technology leaders today. Commenting on the event programme, Michael Hughes, Head of Conference at TechEx Events, said:

"Enterprise technology leaders are navigating a period of rapid change, where AI, data, cybersecurity, cloud infrastructure, and automation are reshaping how organisations operate. The TechEx Europe agenda is designed to provide practical insights, real-world implementation lessons, and opportunities for meaningful peer-to-peer discussion across these critical areas."

The exhibition offers attendees the opportunity to evaluate emerging technologies, meet solution providers, and gain practical insight into technologies being adopted across industries.

Networking and Learning Opportunities

TechEx Europe combines conference content with structured networking opportunities designed to connect technology leaders facing similar challenges.

Attendees can participate in:

- Industry meetups within the Meetup Zone
- Networking Drinks Reception
- Meetings facilitated through the event networking platform
- Learning Hub workshops and collaborative sessions

These formats are designed to encourage knowledge sharing, problem-solving, and collaboration between enterprise technology professionals from across Europe and beyond.

Why Attend TechEx Europe?

TechEx Europe offers attendees:

- Access to eight co-located technology events with a single pass
- Insights from enterprise technology leaders and practitioners
- Technical and strategic content across multiple disciplines
- Hands-on learning through the Learning Hub
- Opportunities to connect with peers from leading organisations
- Exposure to the latest enterprise technology solutions and innovations

The event's cross-functional audience creates opportunities for conversations that extend beyond individual technology silos, bringing together leaders responsible for strategy, architecture, implementation, operations, security, and innovation.
