

Sirius Medical Announces Partnership with Menges Medical to Expand Access to the Pintuition in Switzerland

Sirius Medical announces a partnership with Menges Medical to expand access to the Pintuition® navigation system in Switzerland.

EINDHOVEN , NOORD-BRABANT , NETHERLANDS, August 3, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Sirius Medical, developer of the Pintuition® navigation system, is pleased to announce a new partnership with Menges Medical to support the growing adoption of Pintuition in breast cancer surgery across Switzerland.

Through this collaboration, hospitals and breast care teams in Switzerland will have expanded access to Pintuition through both Sirius Medical and Menges Medical, strengthening local support and increasing availability of the technology for surgeons and healthcare providers.

Sirius Medical's Pintuition is designed to help surgeons localize and navigate towards marked tissue during breast-conserving surgery. The system is built to support workflow flexibility, surgical confidence, and an improved experience for care teams and patients.

Menges Medical brings extensive experience in supporting innovative medical technologies in the Swiss healthcare market and will work closely with Sirius Medical to help healthcare professionals implement Pintuition in their clinical practice.

"We are excited to work together with Menges Medical to further strengthen our presence in Switzerland," said Heinz Moeri, Business Development Director Switzerland at Sirius Medical. "Their strong relationships within the Swiss healthcare community and commitment to high-quality support make them an excellent partner as we continue expanding access to Pintuition."

"Pintuition offers surgeons an innovative navigational approach to localization that aligns well with the needs of modern breast surgery,” said Roelof Hoekstra, Country Manager Switzerland at Menges Medical. “We are proud to support Swiss hospitals and surgeons with access to this technology together with Sirius Medical.”

Sirius Medical remains fully committed to supporting customers directly in Switzerland while continuing to invest in clinical education, training, and customer support.
