Six industry-leading events unite the full property value chain at Fairmont Royal York and Metro Toronto Convention Centre

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, August 5, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Canadian Real Estate & Construction Week

returns in 2026, expanding across two premier downtown Toronto venues to accommodate the country's most comprehensive gathering of real estate and construction professionals.

Taking place at the Fairmont Royal York and Metro Toronto Convention Centre, the week-long program unites six established industry events – with 21,000+ attendees, 300+ speakers, and 700+ exhibitors – creating unparalleled opportunities for planners, developers, investors, builders, consultants, specifiers, and asset managers to connect, collaborate and drive the future of Canada's built environment.

Bringing these communities together creates exponential value, Attendees gain perspectives they simply can't access at single-sector events, leading to smarter decisions and stronger partnerships.”

Six events, infinite connections

The Buildings Show

Global Property Market

The premier platform for international real estate investment. Cross-border capital meets Canadian opportunities as investors, developers and advisors explore partnerships that span continents.

Apartment Development & Affordable Housing Conference

Addressing Canada's most pressing housing challenges. Developers, policymakers and financiers collaborate on strategies to increase supply and improve affordability across the country.

35th Annual Real Estate Forum

Strategic insights for commercial property leaders. Market intelligence, investment trends and portfolio strategies that shape decision-making across office, retail, industrial and mixed-use sectors.

IMN's Canadian Real Estate Asset Management

Operational excellence for institutional portfolios. Asset managers, operators and investors optimise performance through data-driven strategies and best practice sharing.

Data Center World Canada

Infrastructure solutions for the digital economy. As data demands surge, this event connects the technology, real estate and construction sectors building Canada's digital backbone.

The power of integration

Canadian Real Estate & Construction Week eliminates the traditional barriers between industry sectors. A planner exploring sustainable design connects with the builder who will execute the vision. An investor evaluating opportunities meets the asset manager who will deliver returns. A developer sourcing materials discovers the technology that will differentiate their project.

This integrated approach mirrors how real estate actually works – as an interconnected ecosystem where success depends on collaboration across disciplines.

Dual-venue experience

The Fairmont Royal York and Metro Toronto Convention Centre are connected by Toronto's PATH system, allowing seamless movement between venues. Attendees access all six events with a single registration, maximising networking opportunities and knowledge sharing across the full week.
