

Bridging the Gap in Regenerative Medicine: PlacidWay and CellCenter Expand Access to European Stem Cell Therapy

PlacidWay and CellCenter Slovakia help international patients access regulated European stem cell therapies through a trusted medical tourism network.

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Denver, CO & Bratislava, Slovakia –

PlacidWay, an international medical tourism marketplace, has announced a new partnership with CellCenter, a leading biotechnology and regenerative medicine clinic located in Bratislava, Slovakia. This collaboration aims to provide international patients with structured access to advanced stem cell therapies and regenerative treatments designed to address complex, systemic, and chronic conditions.

Our work is rooted in the belief that the body has an innate capacity for self-repair, and through our partnership with PlacidWay, we can bring this regenerative approach to patients worldwide.”

Renata Mihalyova, CEO and Owner of CellCenter

Operating for over a decade, CellCenter has established itself as a pioneer in the application of adult stem cells, focusing on amplifying the body’s innate capacity for self-repair. The clinic utilizes human umbilical cord blood, umbilical cord mesenchymal stem cells, and adipose-derived stem cells and exosomes to develop individualized treatment plans. These protocols target a broad spectrum of medical needs, including autism treatment, neurological disorders (such as Parkinson’s Disease and Alzheimer’s Disease), cardiovascular and autoimmune conditions, orthopedic, traumatology, and advanced longevity interventions.

Increasingly, patients from North America, as well as both Eastern and Western Europe, are traveling to Slovakia seeking access to these rigorous European standards for stem cell therapies. Through its dedicated facility in the CellCenter Clinic in Bratislava offers highly regulated, personalized care. Patients undergo comprehensive initial diagnostics, and multidisciplinary medical teams formulate bespoke treatment pathways that may integrate stem cells, exosomes, hyperbaric oxygen therapy, red light therapy and nutritional support.

At the forefront of CellCenter's clinical excellence is MUDr. Milan Hric, who serves as the Medical Director and Expert Guarantor. With over 30 years of clinical and surgical experience, MUDr. Hric ensures that all treatments adhere to strict European Union safety and quality regulations. His extensive background includes serving as a Deputy Chief Physician and participating in United Nations military missions, bringing a profound level of discipline and diagnostic precision to regenerative care.

"Our work has always been guided by the belief that the body has an innate capacity for self-repair, and modern science can amplify that ability," said Renata Mihalyova, CEO and Owner of CellCenter. "Over time, our mission has evolved from addressing localized injuries to tackling complex systemic conditions, all with the goal of making regenerative medicine a vital part of modern healthcare. Longevity is not just about living longer; it's about living well, and extending healthspan by focusing on biomarkers of aging. Partnering with PlacidWay enables us to offer our holistic, personalized regenerative solutions to a global patient base."

Operating as an industry-leading healthcare marketplace and Platform as a Service (PaaS), PlacidWay bridges the gap between global patients and scientifically grounded, regulated regenerative care, including Stem Cell Therapy in Europe, available in Slovakia. By connecting individuals directly with CellCenter through its highly innovative digital platform, PlacidWay facilitates a seamless and empowered healthcare journey. The platform uniquely integrates comprehensive education with secure, end-to-end communication channels, ensuring that international patients can make deeply informed decisions while collaborating safely and directly

"Regenerative medicine represents the frontier of modern healthcare, offering viable options where conventional therapies often fall short," said Pramod Goel, CEO and Founder of PlacidWay.

"CellCenter's commitment to safety, utilizing strictly controlled adult stem cells, and their focus on individualized patient care aligns perfectly with our mission to connect patients globally with world-class medical excellence. This partnership positions Slovakia as a key destination for patients seeking legitimate, transformative longevity and cellular therapies."

CellCenter's procedures are strictly regulated, utilizing only ethically sourced adult stem cells. The therapies aim to release anti-inflammatory and anti-fibrotic signals to stimulate tissue regeneration, effectively treating conditions ranging from chronic pain to systemic degenerative diseases.
