PEAKS Endo Pro

PEAKS is designed to help practices improve what happens next. By connecting workflows, operational information, and performance analytics, we give dental teams clearer insight into their businesses”

Rusty Bradbury, President of PEAKS Dental, Inc.

“This raise reflects a new stage in our growth and positions us to accelerate our strategy and capitalize more quickly on the market opportunity ahead,” said Rusty Bradbury, President of PEAKS Dental, Inc. “We’ve had strong investor support that has been instrumental in developing our performance-focused dental practice technologies. This next round of capital will allow us to make strategic investments in new customer acquisition and expand our team/resources to support that growth.”

The company plans to direct the new capital primarily toward new user acquisition and team expansion, increasing market awareness, accelerating customer growth, and building the internal capacity needed to implement and support additional practices. PEAKS has identified endodontic specialty practices, dental service organizations, and practices still using outdated legacy software as key growth opportunities.

PEAKS Dental builds purpose-built technology for general, specialty and multi-location dental practices. Its platform combines practice management, analytics, integrated workflows and modern operational tools to help practices run more efficiently and grow with greater visibility — connecting scheduling, insurance, payments, reporting, communications and clinical documentation within a unified operating environment.

“Traditional practice management systems often lack the professional-grade accounting and business tools needed to make truly informed decisions and optimize practice performance,” Bradbury said. “PEAKS performance platforms are built on years of direct industry experience and purpose-built to improve performance at every level. By better connecting workflows, operational data and performance analytics, we give dental teams clear, real-time insight into their business, along with the tools to act on it.”

The raise follows the introduction of PEAKS Endo Pro™, the company's next-generation platform built specifically for endodontic practices. Endo Pro includes advanced clinical workflow and case management tools, AI-powered clinical note generation, referring provider management, a cloud-based patient referral and correspondence portal, and endodontic performance analytics with real-time goal tracking.

PEAKS Dental has also reported continued financial and operational progress. According to information on its Wefunder profile, PEAKS reached its first profitable quarter in Q1 2026, alongside a 25% year-over-year increase in annualized recurring revenue and an increase in average monthly revenue per customer from $520 in Q1 2025 to $652 in Q1 2026.

PEAKS Dental will use the new capital to build on current momentum while maintaining its focus on product innovation and quality, customer service, and long-term customer value.
