

DP Group Expands TORQEN Distributor and OEM Network Across Africa and Latin America

Zhejiang-based gate automation manufacturer seeks new distributor and OEM partners in Africa and Latin America for its TORQEN product line.

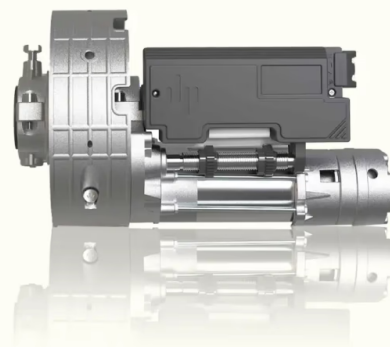

HUZHOU, ZHEJIANG, CHINA, August 6, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DP Group, a Zhejiang-based manufacturer of central motors, tubular motors, and other gate and door automation equipment, is expanding its distributor and OEM partner network into Africa and Latin America. The company manufactures its products under the TORQEN brand for residential, commercial, and industrial applications.

Founded in 2006, DP Group says it has completed more than 1,200 customized automation projects and delivered products to clients in 20 countries to date. The company also says its installed systems have enabled more than 5 million kilowatt-hours in annual energy savings for customers.

The TORQEN product line centers on central motors and tubular motors, used to power roller shutters, awnings, and window screens, alongside sliding and swing gate openers, garage motors and garage door openers, industrial motors, safety brakes, photocells, parking barriers, and access control accessories such as e-locks and door closers. DP Group supplies both individual components and complete automation systems to residential customers, commercial property managers, and industrial facilities.

"As one of China's largest central motor manufacturers and tubular motor suppliers, we're ready to bring that manufacturing scale to new markets," said DP Group's CEO. "Africa and Latin America are two of the fastest-growing regions for gate and access automation, and we want to build the same kind of long-term distributor and OEM relationships there that we've built in our existing markets. We're looking for partners who are established in the local market and ready to grow with us."

DP Group said it is inviting distributors and OEM partners in Africa and Latin America to contact its sales team to discuss partnership opportunities across its TORQEN central motor, tubular motor, garage motor, and gate automation product lines.

About DP Group Founded in 2006 and headquartered in Changxing County, Zhejiang Province, China, DP Group designs and manufactures central motors, tubular motors, and other gate and door automation products under its TORQEN brand for residential, commercial, and industrial customers worldwide.
