

ALIVE Podcast Network Celebrates Black Business Month with New Programming and a Creator-First Studio in Washington, D.C

Six new podcasts and the expansion of ALIVE STUDIOS underscores the company's commitment to amplifying Black voices and producing conversations that transform.

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, August 6, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In celebration of Black Business Month, ALIVE Podcast Network®, the creator-first media technology company and home of Black voices, is expanding its platform with six new original podcasts while welcoming creators into ALIVE STUDIOS, its professional production space in the heart of Washington, D.C. The expansion reflects ALIVE's continued investment in creating opportunities for diverse voices to be heard while providing creators with the tools, technology, and infrastructure to build meaningful businesses around their stories.

From mental health and workplace equity to leadership, wellness, cultural identity, and personal transformation, ALIVE's newest programming reflects the richness of the Black experience—offering conversations that educate, encourage, challenge perspectives, and empower listeners to live more balanced, purposeful, and authentic lives.

"Black Business Month is about more than celebrating entrepreneurship—it's about recognizing the power of ownership," said Angel N. Livas, Founder and CEO of ALIVE Podcast Network. "Every creator who joins ALIVE is building something bigger than a podcast. They're creating community, preserving culture, sharing wisdom, and reminding people that their stories matter. We're honored to provide a platform where those voices can reach audiences around the world while maintaining ownership of their narratives."

and experiences in the workplace, offering honest conversations about career growth, leadership, and navigating professional spaces with authenticity.

The Lulu Essey Podcast explores Mental Fitness—a fresh approach to mental health—while helping listeners strengthen self-love, emotional resilience, and the mindset needed to thrive from the inside out.

She Thrives with Rhonda Coleman Wandel features real stories, candid conversations, and practical strategies designed to help women cultivate greater confidence, improve their health, and pursue lasting happiness.

Unshackled Leadership is a bold, unapologetic platform where women of color—and anyone committed to personal and professional growth—can confront barriers, redefine leadership, and develop strategies for sustained success.

Our Truth Our History Our Story (Our THS) is rooted in the belief that every Black person in America deserves to be seen, heard, and respected through powerful storytelling that preserves lived experiences and deepens understanding of the Black experience in America.

Black Bipolar Female creates a safe, empowering space for Black women living with bipolar disorder through honest conversations, relatable experiences, and stories that challenge stigma, inspire healing, and remind listeners they are never alone.

Collectively, these new programs reinforce ALIVE Podcast Network's belief that media should do more than entertain—it should create connection, preserve culture, challenge stigma, and inspire transformation.

As creators increasingly seek high-quality spaces to produce professional content without sacrificing ownership or authenticity, ALIVE STUDIOS is answering that call. Located in downtown Washington, D.C., ALIVE STUDIOS is a creator-first production space designed for podcasters, authors, entrepreneurs, executives, nonprofits, and organizations looking to produce broadcast-quality content without breaking the bank.

Whether recording a podcast, audiobook, webinar, branded video, voice-over, or social media campaign, creators have access to professional equipment, experienced production support, and a collaborative environment built to help ideas become influential stories. It's more than a recording studio, ALIVE STUDIOS represents an investment in the creator economy—providing Black entrepreneurs and storytellers with the resources needed to compete on a global stage while maintaining ownership of their intellectual property and creative vision.
