

The Power2Plan Announces A New Financial Literacy Tool - My Savings In 12 Envelopes

Written by Erodita Agard-Anderson, it's a multi-faceted resource guide exploring budgeting, credit scores, entrepreneurship and job interview preparation.

JERSEY CITY , NJ, UNITED STATES,
August 7, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --
The Power2Plan My Savings in 12 Envelopes guide is a strong financial literacy tool that can help youth and families learn to manage their money effectively and build a foundation for wealth. Written by Erodita Agard-Anderson, the book was created as a multi-faceted resource guide exploring topics from budgeting and credit scores to entrepreneurship and job interview preparation.

My Savings in 12 Envelopes is composed of 12 sealable envelopes and 3 weekly savings templates that encourage youth to save money and build a life of financial freedom. Erodita works in education as a Guidance Counselor; she was inspired to write this resource guide because she noticed that a number of her students would hang out in her office after class.

Each envelope explores one fundamental financial literacy topic with prompts and activities to encourage personal reflection and independent research.”

Erodita Agard-Anderson

Because she has a long history of serving young people and at-risk students, she sought to be intentional with the time spent with her rising high school seniors, and she began speaking with them about student loans, avoiding unnecessary debt, and money management. Erodita then decided to create her resource guide to help prepare the next generation of financially responsible leaders.

She explains, “Each envelope explores one fundamental financial literacy topic with prompts and activities to encourage personal reflection and independent research.” Erodita started a savings challenge with her students, and because that was so successful, she wanted to include that in My Savings in 12 Envelopes. “I strategically selected entrepreneurship as the topic for the last envelope because it is my love letter to all of my young readers. I want all young people to be inspired to turn their passion into purpose and to know their ideas can change the world.”

Power2Plan My Savings in 12 Envelopes was a #1 best seller when it debuted. Bringing that same energy and excitement to the table, Erodita is partnering with Securbykbs for a book launch, Save, Sip & Shop at Mana Art Gallery on Thursday, August 20th. It will be an enlightening evening filled with high fashion and celebratory cocktails, focusing on fiscal and financial responsibility. Due to capacity, please reserve your complimentary ticket here.
