For Barbara and Mike Feigin, founders of Design Tech Homes, the recognition represents much more than two awards.

It reflects nearly three decades of building a company where talented people work together with one shared purpose: creating exceptional custom homes and delivering an outstanding experience for every

"When we founded Design Tech Homes nearly 30 years ago, our goal was to build more than beautiful homes. We wanted to build a company where talented people could collaborate, innovate, and serve families with excellence every day," said Barbara and Mike Feigin, owners of Design Tech Homes. "These awards are especially meaningful because they recognize the work of our entire team. Every designer, engineer, estimator, purchasing specialist, construction manager, customer care representative, trade partner, and employee who contributes to each home shares in this achievement."

One of the defining characteristics of Design Tech Homes has always been its experienced in-house design team, led by Senior Design Manager Chad Ballard, who has been part of the Design Tech Homes family for more than 26 years. Together, the team works closely with homeowners to create custom homes that are as functional as they are beautiful, balancing timeless design with the unique lifestyles of every family they serve.
