Farmers Bank of Kansas City Mortgage Crosses 1,900-Review Mark on Experience.com's Multi-Platform Profile

Experience.com shows a 4.91 rating; data links this milestone to 30,000+ closed loans and a Kansas banking legacy dating to 1907.

OVERLAND, KS, UNITED STATES, September 8, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Farmers Bank of Kansas City Mortgage, the mortgage division of Farmers Bank & Trust, has crossed 1,900 public review listings on Experience.com's multi-platform company profile.

At approximately 11:15 a.m. Eastern on July 28, 2026, the Experience.com public profile displayed a 4.91-out-of-5 aggregate rating across 1,906 review listings. Experience.com's source display attributed 1,020 of those entries to Experience.com, 756 to Zillow and 130 to Google.

Those numbers describe Experience.com's aggregate display not 1,906 unique borrowers or transactions. Review platforms update on different schedules, and a person may post on more than one site. Farmers Bank of Kansas City Mortgage is publishing the methodology with the milestone so readers can understand exactly what was counted.

Recurring themes in many recent positive reviews include responsive communication, clear explanations, help navigating the mortgage process, attention to closing timelines and competitive options. Public reviews can add useful service context, but they are only one part of choosing a lender. The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau recommends comparing at least three loan offers and considering costs, the loan officer's ability to answer questions and confidence in the lender's ability to meet the closing timeline.

"Passing 1,900 review listings gives us a reason to be grateful—and a reason to stay accountable," said Monte Robbins, president of Farmers Bank & Trust. "The themes we hope borrowers see are straightforward: clear answers, responsive communication and a team that respects the importance of the decision."

Farmers Bank & Trust traces its roots to Farmers State Bank of Albert, which opened in 1907. The bank expanded to Overland Park in 2001 and added a consumer internet mortgage operation in 2004. According to company-published all-time loan-origination-system data, FBKC Mortgage has closed more than 30,000 loans across 322 active metropolitan markets, with a lending footprint spanning 49 states, Maryland excluded.

The mortgage team combines that national reach with processing and underwriting handled in-house, secure online document submission and around-the-clock access to loan status. It offers purchase, refinance and home-equity financing, including conventional, VA, jumbo and selected specialty options, subject to borrower eligibility, program availability and lender guidelines.

For Farmers Bank of Kansas City Mortgage, crossing the 1,900-review threshold is both recognition and a continuing obligation: keep communication clear, make complex choices easier to understand and give borrowers the information they need to compare options confidently.

Review methodology
Review figures reflect a public-profile snapshot captured July 28, 2026, at approximately 11:15 a.m. Eastern. Experience.com identifies its company-level total as an aggregate of review listings attributed to Experience.com, Zillow and Google. Counts and ratings change and may update at different times from the source platforms. The aggregate may include posts by the same person on more than one platform and should not be interpreted as a count of unique borrowers, households or loans. Review results do not guarantee any future customer experience.
