a proof-of-concept film for the family drama TEMPTATIONS™, ahead of a feature adaptation.

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, August 10, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Levels & Volumes

Entertainment LLC, founded by author, producer, and U.S. Air Force veteran Fatima Aisha, has launched a crowdfunding campaign to fund a proof-of-concept short film for TEMPTATIONS™, a grounded ensemble family drama being developed into a feature film and television series.

TEMPTATIONS™ is about family, forgiveness, identity, and the difficult choices that shape our lives.”

TEMPTATIONS™ has already expanded into a growing multimedia universe that includes three published novels, with audiobooks in development. The story explores family, loyalty, betrayal, redemption, and the emotional consequences of the choices people make. The proof-of-concept short film will give investors, producers, and audiences a tangible look at the world and characters before the company pursues full feature production, the next step in a franchise designed to grow across books, film, television, and digital media.

"Stories have the power to connect people across backgrounds and generations," said Fatima Aisha, founder and CEO of Levels & Volumes Entertainment LLC. "TEMPTATIONS™ is about family, forgiveness, identity, and the difficult choices that shape our lives. This campaign is about giving independent storytelling a chance to reach a larger audience."

Funds raised will go directly toward production of the proof-of-concept short film, including casting, crew, locations, and equipment.

A completed short film gives TEMPTATIONS™ something a script alone cannot: proof. It demonstrates the visual style and tone of the world to potential investors and producers, provides a finished piece of footage to submit to festivals and industry contacts, and shows a built-in audience is already responding to the characters, before a single dollar of feature financing is on the table.

TEMPTATIONS™ arrives with real momentum. Three published novels are already available to readers, including Raheim Part I, which has an official audio edition now streaming on YouTube. The screenplay is actively entered in multiple national competitions, and the project has earned an official selection at the WRPN Women's International Film Festival. Levels & Volumes Entertainment LLC is entirely independent and founder-owned.

In addition to TEMPTATIONS™, Levels & Volumes Entertainment also publishes family-friendly stories through its Rashad's World imprint, reflecting the company's commitment to creating original intellectual property for audiences of all ages.
