

Cloudzy Launches Complimentary Cloud Credits for IOAI 2026 Medalists

Cloudzy offers IOAI 2026 medalists $200 for gold, $100 for silver, and $50 for bronze to support the next generation of AI builders.

DUBAI, DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES, August 9, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Cloudzy today announced the Cloudzy AI Olympiad Builder Credits, an independent initiative offering complimentary cloud infrastructure credits to medalists in the 2026 International Olympiad in Artificial Intelligence Individual Contest.

Cloudzy IOAI 2026 Free Cloud Credit

Eligible gold medalists can receive $200 in Cloudzy credits, silver medalists $100, and bronze medalists $50. The initiative is designed to help young AI talent turn competition success into continued experimentation, development, and real-world projects.

Winning a medal is a milestone, not a finish line. These students have already demonstrated exceptional technical ability. We want to give them practical resources to keep experimenting and building.”

Aler Rab

Designed as fuel for the next generation of AI builders, the credits can support experiments, AI applications, development environments, data processing, and early-stage research or product ideas.

For emerging AI talent, early access to capable infrastructure can also provide experience beyond the competition environment. By experimenting with production-grade compute, deployment workflows, development tooling, and scalable infrastructure, young builders can begin learning how AI systems move from prototypes and research concepts toward applications that operate in real-world environments.

The offer is available to verified IOAI 2026 Individual Contest gold, silver, and bronze medalists.

Team Challenge and GAITE award recipients, honorable mentions, coaches, team leaders, national-selection winners, and non-medalist participants are not eligible.

To claim the credits, medalists can submit their information through Cloudzy's AI Olympiad page. Cloudzy will verify each result against official sources before applying the corresponding credit.

Credits are valid for one month and are subject to product availability, location, account approval, compliance requirements, and campaign terms.

Claims close on August 31, 2026.

More information and the claim form are available on Cloudzy's IOAI 2026 page.
