The initiative operates by converting traditional corporate recruitment fees into direct community funding. When professionals introduce a human resources leader or executive decision-maker to Recruiting for Good, a successful talent placement triggers a $3,000 donation. This funding sponsors a year-long personal mentoring leadership program for a local girl through "The Sweetest Gigs," utilizing the agency's flagship Girls Design Tomorrow™ methodology.

In appreciation of this corporate introduction, participants unlock premium benefits:

1. The Luxury Reward: A three-year lifestyle incentive consisting of three $1,000 gift cards to favorite Palisades shops.
2. The Pure Philanthropy Option: Referrers can choose to forgo the luxury retail reward to organically fund a second girl's year-long mentorship program.

"We love to celebrate professional women while preparing next-generation girls for future life and leadership milestones," said Carlos Cymerman, Founder of Recruiting for Good. "To honor the impact of your corporate introduction, we invite you to direct this funding personally. Referrers hold the exclusive opportunity to nominate a daughter, niece, or close friend's daughter in the 1st to 5th grade for a year of dedicated personal mentorship—giving her a foundational edge that lasts a lifetime."

Every Year Mentoring 10 New Girls

Due to the intensive, individualized nature of the customized youth mentorship program, participation is strictly limited to 10 reward packages per calendar year. The initiative is entirely self-funded through Recruiting for Good's core business activity of connecting companies with elite professional talent. High-achieving professional women in Los Angeles who believe in lifting as they rise can participate immediately to secure their rewards and invest in the next generation of female leaders.
