

Flow Lets Agents Compare 7 Private Flood Quotes Plus NFIP in 90 Seconds

No elevation certificates, real-time binding, and full self-service servicing — Flow's technology takes the friction out of quoting & binding Flood insurance.

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, August 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Placing flood insurance has long meant juggling separate portals, waiting on quotes, chasing applications, and hunting for elevation certificates. Flow, the private flood insurance platform built by agents for agents, was designed to erase that friction — putting seven private flood quotes and the NFIP rate side by side in a single environment, with quotes returned in as little as 90 seconds.

The graphic features the Flow Flood logo at the top, followed by the text 'PRIVATE FLOOD INSURANCE'. Below this is the headline 'Seven Private Flood Quotes + the NFIP, Side by Side in 90 Seconds'. A sub-headline reads: 'No elevation certificates. Real-time binding. Full self-service. Flood insurance built by agents, for agents.' Three callout boxes state: 'Quote in ~90 seconds', 'No elevation certificate', and '43 states'. At the bottom, a wavy line graphic contains the URL 'www.flowinsurance.com'.

Flow was founded by former independent agency owners who lived the pain points firsthand.

Seven private quotes plus the NFIP, side by side, in about 90 seconds — then bind and service it all in the same place. That's what built by agents, for agents actually looks like.”

The result is a platform that treats agents as the primary user at every step, not an afterthought.

WHAT AGENTS GET INSIDE FLOW

- ~ Side-by-side comparison. Seven private flood options plus the NFIP rate in one view, so agents can recommend the best fit in seconds instead of logging into multiple systems.
- ~ Quotes in 90 seconds. Pre-filled underwriting data and advanced mapping technology mean no elevation certificate is required — and clients pay a fair rate based on their actual risk.

~ Real-time binding. Agents quote, bind, and issue policies on the spot, with automated e-signature applications built in — no waiting, no back-and-forth.

~ Self-service servicing. Endorsements, mortgagee changes, and policy updates are handled directly in the platform, with advance renewal notifications so nothing slips through the cracks.

~ A client portal. Policyholders get their own access, reducing routine service calls and freeing agents to focus on growing their book.
~ Broad availability. Coverage across 43 states and all flood zones for residential, commercial, and CBRA properties.

"We built Flow around a simple idea: agents should spend their time advising clients, not fighting software," said Abbe Sultan, Co-Founder of Flow. "Seven private quotes plus the NFIP, side by side, in about 90 seconds — then bind and service it all in the same place. That's what 'built by agents, for agents' actually looks like."

ABOUT FLOW

Flow is a technology-driven private flood insurance platform built by agents, for agents. Founded by former independent agency owners, Flow lets agents quote seven private flood options alongside the NFIP — side by side in a single environment — then bind and service policies in real time. Coverage is available across 43 states for residential, commercial, and CBRA properties, and Flow's advanced mapping technology removes the need for elevation certificates so clients pay a fair rate. From quote to bind to renewal, Flow helps independent agents deliver great rates and flexible coverage with less friction.
