Safe Pro's rapidly increasing order activity reflects the building interest in its AI-powered computer vision and mapping technology highlighted by:

- Multi-branch, Multi-prime Adoption – The selection of Safe Pro's AI software by the U.S. Army, U.S. Air Force and multiple defense prime contractors who are seeking its advanced solutions for mapping threats, enhancing situational awareness, and mission planning applications.

- Expanding Contract Cadence – Through early August 2026, the Company has received 8 contracts for its AI edge compute and rapid imagery processing technologies for applications utilizing both aerial drones and ground-based autonomous systems.

“We are building momentum in our AI revenue pipeline that can scale into multiple Army programs of record for potential deployment of our AI into existing and new acquisition programs,” said Dan Erdborg, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Safe Pro Group Inc. “We are witnessing a growing number of initial awards resulting from strong demand for our AI-powered threat detection and mapping capabilities. Supported by our patented AI, field-proven capabilities and a commitment to meeting the evolving needs of our soldiers for enhanced
