COLUMBUS, OH, UNITED STATES, September 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A Team Transmissions Highlights ATRA Membership for Columbus Drivers

COLUMBUS, OH - Sept 2026 - A Team Transmissions has highlighted its membership in the Automatic Transmission Rebuilders Association (ATRA). This membership underscores the shop's focus on transmission-specific expertise for drivers across Central Ohio.

ATRA is a longstanding industry association for transmission repair professionals, and membership ties A Team Transmissions into a broader community of specialists dedicated to the craft. For a shop built around transmission work rather than general repair, that connection reflects the standards and continued learning the team brings to every diagnosis and repair.

The membership fits the way A Team Transmissions has always approached its work. As a transmission-specialty business with second-generation roots, the shop concentrates on transmission repair and service, clutch repair, differential repair, engine diagnostics and repair, and software and module programming. It focuses on these areas rather than spreading itself thin. Every visit still begins with a free diagnostic and a clear, plain-language explanation of what a vehicle needs before any repair decision is made. For drivers weighing where to turn for transmission services near Columbus, an industry affiliation like ATRA offers one more reason to feel confident in the choice. The shop continues to serve north-side and east-side customers from two area locations, keeping honest communication and relationship-driven service at the center of what it does.

Being part of ATRA connects our team to a national network of transmission specialists, and that helps us give Columbus-area drivers the same honest, quality work they've always counted on.”
