About Swope, Rodante, Newsome & Steinberg

Swope, Rodante, Newsome & Steinberg was built around a simple idea: the most significant cases require more than exceptional lawyers—they require a coordinated team with the right experience and capabilities to meet every challenge. The outcome of those cases rarely turns on a single issue. Success may depend on proving a product defect, navigating complex insurance issues, preserving a hard-earned verdict on appeal, or overcoming any number of legal and factual obstacles that emerge as a case unfolds. Over more than four decades, the firm has grown by bringing together the experience required at each stage of a case, allowing clients to be represented by one coordinated team from the initial investigation through trial, appeal, collection, and every stage in between. That philosophy has earned the trust of attorneys throughout Florida and across the United States, who turn to the firm when their clients' most significant cases require the collaborative strength of a coordinated litigation team.
