

Clean Remedies Announces Changes to Product Lines in Response to Evolving Federal Regulations

Clean Remedies is announcing changes to its product lineup as the company responds to recent changes in federal regulations.

AVON, OH, UNITED STATES, August 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Clean Remedies is announcing changes to its product lineup as the company responds to recent changes in federal regulations. Starting now, Clean Remedies is discontinuing production of certain products affected by these regulatory changes, reflecting their long-standing commitment to compliance and transparency.

As part of this transition, Clean Remedies is also offering a limited BOGO 50% off promotion on soon-to-be discontinued products. The discount is applied automatically to eligible carts at checkout, with no code required.

While certain products are being phased out, Clean Remedies continues to offer a broad selection of items, including chocolate bars, edibles, drink mixes, tinctures, and more. Clean Remedies' remaining product selection reflects its focus on providing consumers with a range of options while adapting to changes in the regulatory environment. Every item in the continuing product catalog is produced under strict quality control standards, utilizing clean ingredients and rigorous third-party laboratory testing to verify potency, safety, and compliance.

Maintaining high standards of integrity and consumer trust remains central to the Clean

Clean Remedies' Delta 8 THC Tincture Oil, a long-time favorite, is one of their soon-to-be discontinued products.

Remedies mission. By proactively adapting to regulatory developments, the company ensures that its partners and consumers receive federally legal formulations without interruption.

Clean Remedies specializes in crafting high-quality, hemp-derived products designed for daily wellness routines. Founded on the principles of purity, transparency, and efficacy, the company oversees every step of its production process from farm to finished product. All Clean Remedies products are third-party laboratory tested, all-natural, and proudly manufactured in the United States.
