About Law Office of Pietro Canestrelli, APC

Founded in 2016, the Law Office of Pietro Canestrelli, a Tax Controversy Boutique, APC, ("LOPC") was built on a simple belief: people facing tax problems deserve more than technical answers. They deserve to be seen, respected and supported as human beings. That belief is deeply personal to founder Pietro E. Canestrelli. His perspective on tax law changed permanently after watching his own brother struggle with tax problems during an already difficult time, ultimately ending in the loss of his life. The experience reinforced for Pietro that tax issues rarely exist in isolation; they often arrive alongside financial pressure, family challenges, business uncertainty, mental and/or physical health challenges, and/or personal loss. LOPC was created to provide sophisticated tax representation while helping clients move from fear and confusion toward clarity, control and peace of mind. The firm meets clients where they are by combining attorney-led tax guidance with a highly personal client experience. Clients receive a dedicated legal team, clear communication and access to real people who understand their journey. The firm represents individuals and businesses in serious federal and state tax matters, including tax controversies, audits, collections, expert tax opinions and proactive tax planning. That same philosophy shapes how LOPC builds its team. The firm hires not only for skill and experience, but for alignment with its PEACE values: Passion, Education, Advocacy, Compassion, Every Time. Team members are chosen to reflect the same care, accountability and respect Pietro expects every client to receive. Pietro brings 27 years of tax-law experience to the firm. Before entering private practice, he served as an attorney with the IRS Office of Chief Counsel in Washington, D.C. He also holds an LL.M. in Taxation and specialized credentials in tax law and tax planning. Today, LOPC continues to grow with the goal of reaching more taxpayers without losing the personal, compassionate experience on which the firm was founded.
