

Quisitive Consultants Named Microsoft FastTrack Recognized Solution Architects

Quisitive architects join an elite group recognized by Microsoft's Dynamics 365 product engineering team for delivering FastTrack governed engagements.

DALLAS, TX, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Quisitive, a global technology consulting firm and Microsoft Frontier Partner, today announced that two of its consultants have been named Microsoft FastTrack Recognized Solution Architects (FTRSA) for 2026.

Having two of our consultants recognized places them prestigious tier globally and reflects the depth of expertise our team brings to clients' Dynamics 365 investments. ”

Jennifer Johnson, EVP of Business Applications at Quisitive

Established by Microsoft in 2019, the FTRSA designation is awarded directly by Microsoft's Dynamics 365 product engineering team to solution architects who consistently exhibit deep architecture expertise and deliver high-quality solutions during Dynamics 365 FastTrack governed engagements. Candidates are evaluated on published reference architectures, documented customer success stories, and the complexity of their implementations, followed by an interview with Microsoft's engineering teams. Today, only 174 architects from 84 partner organizations worldwide hold this distinction.

- Ajit Srivastava, recognized for his work in Dynamics 365 ERP

"This isn't a nomination we can submit on someone's behalf. It's earned through the quality of the work our architects deliver for customers and validated directly by Microsoft's engineering team," said Jennifer Johnson, EVP of Business Applications at Quisitive. "Having two of our consultants recognized places them prestigious tier globally and reflects the depth of expertise our team brings to clients' Dynamics 365 investments. ”

The announcement follows Quisitive's recent recognition of six 2026 Microsoft MVPs across Microsoft 365, Copilot, SharePoint, Azure, Dynamics 365, and Power Platform.

Why the Program Matters to Clients

FTRSA recognition means an architect's work has been reviewed and validated directly by Microsoft's Dynamics 365 engineering team. For Quisitive clients, that translates into solution architectures backed by the technical standards Microsoft expects of its highest-performing partners.
