

Executive Home Care Northeast Greater Boston Helps Families Navigate In-Home Care Decisions

Individualized care plans, thoroughly screened caregivers, and flexible support options help local families care for aging and disabled loved ones.

BOSTON, MA, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Families across Northeast Greater Boston often face a deeply personal decision when an aging parent or a loved one with a disability begins to need additional support: how to provide reliable, dignified care without removing that person from the familiar surroundings of home. Executive Home Care Northeast Greater Boston, a locally operated agency backed by a national home care organization serving families since 2004, helps local households develop individualized care plans focused on safety, comfort, independence, and quality of life.

The desire to remain at home is shared by many older adults. AARP's 2024 Home and Community Preferences Survey found that 75% of adults age 50 and older want to remain in their current homes as they age. Executive Home Care Northeast Greater Boston supports that goal through attentive, non-medical in-home care tailored to each client's routines, abilities, and preferences.

For families exploring care options, understanding non-medical home care can make the decision process easier. Support may include companionship, bathing and grooming assistance, meal preparation, grocery shopping, errands, medication reminders, mobility assistance, light housekeeping, and transportation. These services can help older adults and individuals with disabilities continue living at home while easing some of the daily responsibilities carried by family caregivers.

Executive Home Care Northeast Greater Boston provides personal care, companion care, live-in care, dementia care, respite care, transitional care, fall-prevention support, and other specialized services. Care may range from periodic visits to more consistent assistance for clients with complex or changing needs. Individualized care plans can also be adjusted over time as a client's circumstances evolve.

Caregiver preparation is central to the agency's approach. Executive Home Care uses a 360-degree caregiver onboarding process in which caregivers undergo advanced training, screening, and thorough evaluation before placement. The agency seeks caregivers who combine practical ability with compassion and a genuine desire to support older adults and their families.

The local leadership team also brings personal experience serving seniors, individuals with disabilities, nonprofit organizations, and family caregivers. Owner André Gorgenyi describes the agency's approach as ministry-minded, with an emphasis on treating clients like family and caregivers as valued partners. This perspective aligns with Executive Home Care's mission to improve quality of life for clients and their families through service excellence.

The company's Quality of Care pledge is grounded in three core values: commitment, compassion, and quality of care. These principles guide its focus on client safety, comfort, independence, individualized planning, and dependable support for families throughout the care relationship.

Families exploring in-home care for an older adult or a loved one with a disability can request an in-home assessment with Executive Home Care Northeast Greater Boston to discuss available services and begin developing an appropriate care plan.

Families in Greater Boston deserve to know that choosing home care does not mean choosing less. Our caregivers bring genuine compassion and professional training to every visit, and our goal is always to preserve the dignity, independence, and quality of life that every person deserves in their own home. We built this agency to be the kind of partner that treats your loved one the way we would want our own family treated.
