These boomtowns are where the next wave of American entrepreneurship is happening, and we want every new business owner walking into that opportunity to look established from day one.”

Yori Galel, CEO of Opus Virtual Offices

leading provider of virtual office solutions with 650-plus locations across the United States, today highlighted new research confirming what its own footprint already shows: Florida is home to more of the nation's fastest-growing cities than any other state, and Opus is already established in more than a dozen of them.

According to "America's New Boomtowns," a study recently published by SmartAsset, Florida leads the country with 19 of the 75 fastest-growing U.S. cities, more than any other state, followed closely by Texas with 18. The study ranked cities based on five-year changes in housing units, labor force size, and county-level real GDP growth, using data from the U.S. Census Bureau and the Bureau of Economic Analysis.

Opus Virtual Offices has a presence in at least 13 of the cities named in the study, including Tampa, Jacksonville, Fort Myers, Cape Coral, Doral, West Palm Beach, and Daytona Beach in Florida, along with Austin and Fort Worth in Texas. As these cities add jobs, housing, and new businesses at multiples of the national pace, entrepreneurs moving in or starting up need a professional presence that can keep pace with the growth around them.

"These boomtowns are where the next wave of American entrepreneurship is happening, and we want every new business owner walking into that opportunity to look established from day one," said Yori Galel, CEO of Opus Virtual Offices. "Growth this fast creates real opportunity, and also real competition. A prestigious business address shouldn't be the thing that slows anyone down."

Opus Virtual Offices gives entrepreneurs in these fast-growing markets a prestigious commercial business address, a live receptionist answering calls in the company's name Monday through Friday, professional mail handling, and a dedicated business phone and fax number, all for $99 a month.
